12. Full Members present at the election are entitled to vote, except that no person may vote in any election for which they are a candidate. Other Members may be present at the elections and participate in any hustings taking place but may not vote. No one else may be present without permission of the Returning Officer.
13. The procedure for voting shall be, for each Office, as follows.
 - a. The Returning Officer confirms the options available. These may consist of any number of candidates and/or groups of candidates. There will always be an option for re-open nominations ('RON'). At this time, candidates running individually may choose to form a group or join a group also running for the same Office.
 - b. Candidates for the Office being voted upon leave the room.
 - c. Everyone present, excluding the Returning Officer and Deputy Returning Officer are instructed to close their eyes. This is to ensure that voting remains anonymous. Any person attempting to violate this will have their vote voided, take no further part in the election, and may have further sanctions, up to and including possible expulsion from the Club, imposed upon them at the discretion of the Committee.
 - d. For each voting option the following will happen:
 - i. The Returning Officer will name the option.
 - ii. Full Members eligible to vote and wishing to vote for the option will raise their hands. No person may vote for more than one option.
 - iii. The Returning Officer and Deputy Returning Officer will independently count the number of votes.
 - e. Step (d) will be repeated until the Returning Officer and Deputy Returning Officer agree on the number of votes cast for each option.
 - f. If any one option receives a majority of the votes cast then they will be elected. If RON receives a majority of the votes cast then the provisions of clause 18 will apply.
 - g. Otherwise, the option which receives the fewest votes (or all options with the joint fewest votes) will be eliminated and steps (c)-(g) are repeated. If this eliminates all options then the provisions of clause 19 will apply.
 - h. Members will be invited to open their eyes, and candidates will be allowed into the room. The name of the person elected will be immediately announced by the Returning Officer.
14. In the case of a person elected to a Senior Office having already been elected or holding another Office(s) for the same term which is not President, they must immediately resign from the non-Senior Office(s).

15. In the case of a person elected to a Senior Office, they must immediately withdraw themselves as a candidate for all other Offices at the same election except for President.
16. A person elected to the Offices of Men's Vice-Captain; Women's Vice- Captain; Fairbairns Secretary; Men's Lower Boats Captain; Women's Lower Boats Captain; Webmaster; Social secretary; or Welfare Officer must immediately withdraw themselves as a candidate for President.
17. Voting for the President will occur immediately after all other votes using the same procedure as all other Offices
18. If there are no candidates for an Office or if RON is selected for an Office then a by-election will take place on the following weekend for that Office using the same procedure as the Annual Election. If there are still no candidate for an Office, then the newly-elected committee will decide how to proceed
19. If there is a tie between two candidates at the Annual Election or at a by-election the newly-elected committee will select between the two candidates at a Special Committee Meeting of the newly-elected committee, which should be held before they take office.
20. Members may not circulate any material, nor incur any expenditure, in connection with an election or by-election.
21. Complaints regarding the conduct of candidates should be made in writing to the Returning Officer who will investigate the complaint immediately and rule on any consequences, which may include disqualification of a candidate, before the election or by-election. Appeals of their decision will be to a Committee Meeting whose decision shall be final.
22. If any situation arises in connection with an election or by-election which is not dealt with in this Constitution then the Returning Officer, or in their absence the Deputy Returning Officer, shall have the power to take any reasonable action they deem necessary. Appeals of their decision will be to a Committee Meeting whose decision shall be final
